

James C Honeyfield

May 25, 1942 - December 3, 2024

James Clark Honeyfield was born May 25, 1942 in Appleton City, MO, the son of James B and Alberta (Tucker) Honeyfield and passed from life December 3, 2024 at his home.

He attended school in Collins, MO and spent his young adult life working in crops and odd jobs in the western states. He was always a hard worker and paid his own way in life. He returned to the Willow Springs area and was employed at Rawlings Manufacturing. He later owned several farms throughout his life.

James (Clark) was a farmer. He owned and operated his own dairy farm for many years and also raised beef cattle. He loved all aspects of the farm and cowboy life. Tractors and hunting and cowboy shows were his passions and he also enjoyed a good plate of biscuits and gravy or fried fish.

Although never married, James had a large extended family which he supported and gave a hand up in life when they needed one. He never met a stranger and enjoyed visits with friends. Some of his best times were spent at auctions and cookouts with his buddies and family. He loved to trade stories and items with everyone. As per his wish, no services will be held at this time.

James is survived by sisters Minnie Wright, Lees Summit, MO and Nancy Honeyfield-Leeper, West Plains. Brothers Marvin (Verla) Honeyfield, Willow Springs, MO, Norman (Mary) Honeyfield and David Honeyfield, West Plains, MO and many other extended family members.

“ Clark was very kind hearted and welcoming to myself and my four sons as we came down hunting around 35 years. We always enjoy. His stories , his unmistakable laugh. and his good campfire Café meals. always ready for one more cup of coffee talking about a new deal he had just done. he will be missed, praying, comfort for the whole family.
