From a young age Matthew was a hard worker, and he enjoyed working from helping his father in the hayfield and cutting firewood to working at Rivers Edge Restaurant in Thomasville, MO as his first job. What Matthew enjoyed doing most though was working in the woods as logger as he had done throughout his entire adult life. In his free time Matthew enjoyed working on the farm alongside his beloved friend and mentor Scotty Redman. Aside from working which brought him the most fulfillment, Matthew also enjoyed bow hunting, being at the lake fishing, spending time with his family, attending church at Rocky Creek Worship Center and building his relationship with his Savior Jesus Christ.

Matthew is preceded in death by his grandparents Owen Reihm and David and Virginia May.
